A VOICE FROM HEAVEN.

"I claim the right of God,
His likeness stamps my brow,
Through the shadow of death my feet have trod,
And I rejoice in life.
No shaking heart is here,
No keening, torturing pain,
No wasted cheek, where the frequent tear
Hath collied and left its stain.
I have found the joy of Heaven,
I am one of an angel's band,
To my head a crown is given,
A halo is in my hand.
I have learned the song they sing,
Whom Jesus hath made free,
And the glorious walls of Heaven still ring
With my new-born melody.
No sin, no grief, as pale,
Safe in my happy home,
My heart all fed, my dooms all stilled,
My hour of triumph come;
Friends of my mortal years,
The trusted and the true,
You are walking still, in the valley of tears,
But I wait to welcome you.
Do I forget? O no,
The love of my kindred abides still,
Still bind my heart to the hearts below,
Till they meet and meet again;
Each link is strong and bright,
And love's electric flame
Flows freely down the river of light,
To the world from whence I came.
Do you mourn? But another star
Shines out from the glistening?
Do you weep with the noise of war
And the rage of conflict die?
Then who could your woes call down,
And your hearts so surely riven,
For another gem in Saviour's crown,
And another soul in heaven?"

Resided, That while it is our duty to mourn with those that mourn, exercising the benevolent impulses of our nature, and drop a sympathetic tear, it is likewise incumbent upon us, in the exercise of faith in an overruling Providence, to recognize in this afflictive bereavement the hand of God that doth all things well, and does not willingly afflict the children of men.

Resolved, That as Templars will endeavor to emulate the virtues wherein our brother was dedicated, and when a like decree is issued, we may meet him in that Temple above, not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

Resolved, That the sympathies of this Temple be tendered the bereaved young widow, and as testimony of our esteem for our departed brother, and sympathy with the afflicted friends, we tender the home circle from which he has been removed, a copy of these resolutions, with the assurance that we will hold her in tender regard the memory of him who has been associated with us in the relation of brother.

Resolved, That we as a Temple, will attend the funeral this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and perform the solemn rites due his many virtues.

Resolved, That the above resolutions be spread upon the Record, and copies be furnished the city papers for publication.

Douglas Pole Raising at Centreville.
FOR THE EXPRESS.
Douglas Pole Raising at Centreville.

Aug. 18, 1860.

Editor Express. It was my fortune to be at the Douglas pole raising in Centreville on the 13th, and a Mr. Mack, of Terre Haute, made a speech on the occasion. His text was non intervention. He said on that doctrine only, could this government stand! I would like to know how this government has stood from its origin, until this doctrine of Separation. Sovereignty was promulgated by the Little Giant? I undertake to say that the Congress of the United States has the power to form government for the Territory, and in that organization has the power to prohibit Slavery, without infringing any rights reserved by the several States.

The Congress of the United States on the 13th of July, 1877, prohibited Slavery in the North Western Territory, and it was considered constitutional by the men that made it.

Mr. Douglass voted in favor of inserting the prohibitory clause in the Oregon Bill, and voted for it; a little farther on what did Mr. Douglass do when the three million bill was before Congress in 1847?

By referring to 29th Congress, 2d Session, Page 424 of the Congressional Globe, we find Mr. Douglass moved to amend Mr. Hamlin's amendment as follows: "that there shall be neither Slavery or involuntary servitude in any Territory acquired under this act, or as the result of the existing war with Mexico, which lies north of 36 deg. 30 min. north latitude, commonly known as the Missouri Compromise line."

Mr. Hamlin's bill prohibited Slavery in Territory acquired by, or annexed to, the United States by virtue of this appropriation. I understand Mr. Douglass was a good Democrat on that subject, how is it now? is it necessary to advocate directly the opposite principle? I have always understood that great and true principles never change; men change however; Mr. Douglass has changed, and his followers are now called to condone what he has sustained, and to applaud what he has opposed.

Such is Democracy in these latter days. May God in his mercy deliver us from its absurdities. A. J. LISTON.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a meeting of Evening Star Temple of Honor No. 59, held August 15, 1860, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, At an hour when least expected, that dread messenger, Death, has invaded our social circle and snatched from us beloved brother, OZOBUS L. HOWE, and as it is always proper for the living to pay some right as a testimonial to the virtues of the honored dead, and more especially one, who had in a fraternal relation endeared himself to every member of this Temperance family, therefore,

Resolved, That while it is our duty to mourn with those that mourn, exercising the benevolent impulses of our nature, and drop a sympathetic tear, it is likewise incumbent upon us, in the exercise of faith in an overruling Providence, to recognize in this afflictive bereavement the hand of God that doth all things well, and does not willingly afflict the children of men.

Resolved, That as Templars will endeavor to emulate the virtues wherein our brother was dedicated, and when a like decree is issued, we may meet him in that Temple above, not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

Resolved, That the sympathies of this Temple be tendered the bereaved young widow, and as testimony of our esteem for our departed brother, and sympathy with the afflicted friends, we tender the home circle from which he has been removed, a copy of these resolutions, with the assurance that we will hold her in tender regard the memory of him who has been associated with us in the relation of brother.

Resolved, That we as a Temple, will attend the funeral this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and perform the solemn rites due his many virtues.

Resolved, That the above resolutions be spread upon the Record, and copies be furnished the city papers for publication.

St. Mary's Institute.

This splendid school for young ladies will open on the 31st of September next, with a large number of scholars.

This old pioneer Female Seminary, has quietly but gradually worked itself into favor with a large portion of our people, and that without the aid of outside influence, or pressure of gaudy claptrap, but by its own quiet intrinsic merit. Its reputation as a School is peculiarly its own, and its peculiar advantages of imparting a healthy moral education are well known to its patrons.

The Institution has had quite as many scholars during the last few years as could conveniently accommodate a but the Mother Superior is now adding an extensive and elegant school addition to their already large building, which when finished will accommodate 300 boarding scholars and will be one of the best schools, and the finest architectural College buildings, in the West.

The locality is noted for salubrity, beauty of surrounding country and seclusion; although only four miles from the beautiful Prairie City (Terre Haute) and the Terre Haute & Alton R. Road running within sight of the College buildings.

INSPECTIVE.
The Persian Fever Charm.

For the prevention and cure of Fever and Ague, and Bilious Fevers; This won't remedy any disease but the Persian fever, and the effects of the present plagues by a friend who has been a great traveller in Persia and in India.

While going down the river Euphrates he experienced a severe attack of Fever and Ague. On discovering his condition, one of the boatmen took from his person, who was a Persian, a small leather bag containing a piece of the Persian Sun. Some afterwards the gentleman in conversation with a Priest, obtained from him the secret of its preparation, and ascertained that it was composed of the Persian Agave, and its roots, and leaves, and flowers as to its virtues, he compiled and experienced immediate relief, and has since always found it an effectual protection from all malignant complaints.

On further investigation, he found that the Persian had a knowledge of miraculous powers, and said that it could only be obtained from the Priests of the Sun. Some time afterwards the gentleman in conversation with a Priest, obtained from him the secret of its preparation, and ascertained that it was composed of the Persian Agave, and its roots, and leaves, and flowers as to its virtues, he compiled and experienced immediate relief, and has since always found it an effectual protection from all malignant complaints.
